Part 3: Tips for Success in This Major

- Master time management early. Many business courses include team projects, presentations, and case studies with staggered deadlines. Use a planner or digital calendar to stay organized.
- Engage actively in group work. Collaboration is key in business. Practice strong communication and delegation skills — these are just as important as your grades.
- Build Excel and data analysis skills. Many courses (and careers) in business rely on spreadsheets, dashboards, and financial modeling. Free tutorials on Excel, Google Sheets, or data tools (like LinkedIn Learning, Tableau or Power BI) are worth exploring.
- Go beyond memorizing — apply what you learn. Instructors expect you to apply theories to real-world scenarios. Practice with case studies or read current events/business news (e.g., Wall Street Journal, Harvard Business Review).
- Visit your professors during office hours. They can offer insights into the industry, recommend internships, or write strong references if they know you well.
- Network early and often. Attend business department events, speaker series, or join student business organizations. Building connections now opens doors later.

Part 4: Academic Support Resources

Tutoring Services

The Tutoring and Learning Center on main campus offers free, virtual tutoring services. They offer course-specific tutoring for a variety of Business & Economics courses. All tutoring appointments can be made online at the above web links.

Workshops & Academic Coaching

Academic coaching is a one-on-one student interaction with a Tutoring & Learning Center coach. These sessions can be done virtually and address a variety of topics including study tips & skills, organization, time management, and transfer student needs.

Prefer support in a group setting? Academic success workshops are offered throughout the academic year with the Tutoring & Learning Center. The schedule for workshops can be found on the TLC website as well as on their social media page.

Writing & Communication Support

The TUNE Peer Writing Tutor, Brinn Piccicuto, has weekly office hours for the fall semester on Mondays & Wednesday from 10am-1pm in Room 212. Brinn can assist students at any stage of the writing process (brainstorming, writing introductions, grammar, APA format, organization, sentence structure, etc.). If you are unavailable to meet during her office hours, contact Brinn at bpiccic2@students.towson.edu to schedule a meeting at another time or to get support asynchronously via email.

The Writing Center on main campus is also an optional resource and they offer virtual meeting times.

The Public Communication Center (PCC) provides speech advice to improve public speaking skills to prepare for in-class presentations. Brinn is also available to provide this service for TUNE students.

Tech & Tools

The Client Services Computer Lab at TUNE is available to students for walk-in computer access and on-site support to answer general technology questions and access to digital media software. TechHelp is a great resource for any tech-related questions, Blackboard concerns, etc.

Taking online classes? Check out these student resources for remote learning.

Course Registration

Registering for TUNE courses is a unique process compared to registering for classes offered on the main campus. TUNE courses are added to a student's cart using a four-digit class code, rather than utilizing the class search function. The course schedules for each semester can be found on our website.

Students can also utilize our step-by-step guide on how to register for classes located on the same webpage as above. This guide includes a video that shows the process visually.

Part 5: TU Department Resources & Information

Library & Research

Cook Library offers research & resource guides for each major. The business major guide offers access to articles, industry info, books, videos, and more. This guide has information on properly citing sources for an academic paper, specific business publications to pay attention to, and topic-specific guides.

Contact Information for Cook Library's Business & Economic Librarian:

Shana Gass

sgass@towson.edu

410-704-2395

Students can also check out books at Cook Library and have them sent to TUNE for pickup. Simply change the pickup location to TU Northeastern during the checkout process. You will receive an email from Lauren Zelina, TUNE's Administrative Assistant, to pick up your book from the front desk when it arrives. Questions about checking out books? Contact Kevin Fry at kfry@towson.edu.

Career Center

TU's Career Center offers a variety of information to support students preparing for a career in the business field. The website has specific information about finding an internship, job, and/or preparing for interviews.

Contact information:

Kelly Fewster, Assistant Director of Business & Economics Career Education

kfewster@towson.edu

410-704-4190

Rosemary Riel, Associate Director of the Career Center, will be at TUNE monthly this fall to offer in-person support and a Lunch & Learn session. Students can meet with Rosemary for assistance finding an internship, resume or cover letter support, applying for jobs or graduate school, or general career guidance. When here, Rosemary will have a table in the Learning Commons for drop-in support. You can also email her to set up an appointment in advance at rriel@towson.edu.

Career Center visits will be from 10:30am-2:30pm on the following Thursdays:

September 18th, October 16th, November 20th

- On each of these dates, we are offering a FREE Lunch & Learn session in Room 112 from 12:30pm-1:30pm
- Each Lunch & Learn will focus on a different topic:
 - September-Resume writing
 - October-Applying to graduate schools
 - November-Job search strategies

Harford County Public Library offers many free career resources on their website including job search tools, local job openings and more. They also have Business Resource page that offers support for starting a business, making business plans, financing, and more.

Mental Health Support

All TU students have access to free, virtual counseling services through the Counseling Center. Appointments can be made online or over the phone and are made for the same day that the student is seeking support.

Togetherall is a free, 24/7 communication platform for students to have conversations with their peers anonymously about topics related to mental health. Togetherall offers tools and courses to help students find creative strategies for taking care of themselves.

Welltrack Boost is a mental health self-help app that helps students take inventory of their own wellbeing. The app is free and offers courses, trackers, schedulers, quizzes, and more.

Academic & Disability Support Services

Accessibility and Disability Support Services collaborates with students, faculty, and staff to ensure equal opportunities and accessibility for students in the classroom. For students interested in getting set up with accommodations, please review the Getting Started guide. For assistance with this process, contact Allison Frey, the Director of Student Services at TUNE, at afrey@towson.edu.

Emergency Resources

For students who need support navigating a significant life challenge, reach out to Student Outreach and Support \(SOS\). SOS helps with academic issues, financial concerns, emergency health issues, mental health crises, and more. You can submit a form to SOS for yourself or for a friend.
