Part 3: Tips for Success in This Major

- Stay informed on current events. Criminal justice is a rapidly evolving field influenced by politics, policy, and public opinion. Regularly read reputable news sources and follow court rulings, law enforcement changes, and social justice issues.
- Engage deeply with core subjects. Subjects like criminology, law enforcement, corrections, and legal studies are foundational. Don't just memorize — think critically about how theory applies to real-world scenarios (e.g., ethical dilemmas or justice reform).
- Build relationships with professors. Professors have real-world experience in law, policing, or corrections. Ask questions, attend office hours, and express interest in research or field projects.
- Pursue internships and field experience. Criminal justice is hands-on. Internships in law enforcement, courts, or nonprofits provide insight and connections.
- Develop strong writing and communication skills. Whether writing reports, case briefs, or policy proposals, clarity and accuracy are crucial. Take writing-intensive electives and get feedback from your professors or writing centers.
- Consider your career early. Criminal justice leads to diverse careers — law enforcement, law school, forensics, social work, etc. Talk to advisors and professionals to explore options.

Part 4: Academic Support Resources

Tutoring Services

The Tutoring and Learning Center on main campus offers free, virtual tutoring services. Course-specific tutoring is available for some liberal arts courses relevant to the major. All tutoring appointments can be made online at the above web links.

The Department of Sociology, Anthropology, and Criminal Justice has a student resources hub that includes an overview of support for advising, careers and internships, and check sheets.

Workshops & Academic Coaching

Academic coaching is a one-on-one student interaction with a Tutoring & Learning Center coach. These sessions can be done virtually and address a variety of topics including study tips & skills, organization, time management, and transfer student needs.

Prefer support in a group setting? Academic success workshops are offered throughout the academic year with the Tutoring & Learning Center. The schedule for workshops can be found on the TLC website as well as on their social media page.

Writing & Communication Support

The TUNE Peer Writing Tutor, Brinn Piccuto, has weekly office hours for the fall semester on Mondays & Wednesdays from 10am-1pm in Room 212. Brinn can assist students at any stage of the writing process (brainstorming, writing introductions, grammar, APA format, organization, sentence structure, etc.). If you are unavailable to meet during her office hours, contact Brinn at bpiccic2@students.towson.edu to schedule a meeting at another time or to get support asynchronously via email.

The Writing Center on main campus is also an optional resource and they offer virtual meeting times.

The Public Communication Center (PCC) provides speech advice to improve public speaking skills to prepare for in-class presentations. Brinn is also available to provide this service for TUNE students.

Tech & Tools

The Client Services Computer Lab at TUNE is available to students for walk-in computer access and on-site support to answer general technology questions and access to digital media software. TechHelp is a great resource for any tech-related questions, Blackboard concerns, etc.

Taking online classes? Check out these student resources for remote learning.

Course Registration

Registering for TUNE courses is a unique process compared to registering for classes offered on the main campus. TUNE courses are added to a student's cart using a four-digit class code, rather than utilizing the class search function. The course schedules for each semester can be found on our website.

Students can also utilize our step-by-step guide on how to register for classes located on the same webpage as above. This guide includes a video that shows the process visually.

Part 5: TU Department Resources & Information

Library & Research

Cook Library offers research & resource guides for each major. The criminal justice major guide offers access to articles, statistics and datasets, helpful websites, and more. This guide has information on properly citing sources for an academic paper, specific publications to pay attention to, and topic-specific guides.

Contact Information for Cook Library's CRMJ Research & Instruction Librarian:

Lisa Sweeney

lsweeney@towson.edu

410-704-5325

Students can also check out books at Cook Library and have them sent to TUNE for pickup. Simply change the pickup location to TU Northeastern during the checkout process. You will receive an email from Lauren Zelina, TUNE's Administrative Assistant, to pick up your book from the front desk when it arrives. Questions about checking out books? Contact Kevin Fry at kfry@towson.edu.

Career Center

TU's Career Center offers a variety of information to support students preparing for a career in the criminal justice field. The website has specific information about finding an internship, job, sample resumes, and/or preparing for interviews.

Contact information:

Kevin Lasko, Assistant Director, Liberal Arts Education

klasko@towson.edu

410-704-4069

Rosemary Riel, Associate Director of the Career Center, will be at TUNE monthly this fall to offer in-person support and a Lunch & Learn session. Students can meet with Rosemary for assistance finding an internship, resume or cover letter support, applying for jobs or graduate school, or general career guidance. When here, Rosemary will have a table in the Learning Commons for drop-in support. You can also email her to set up an appointment in advance at rriel@towson.edu.

Career Center visits will be from 10:30am-2:30pm on the following Thursdays:

September 18th, October 16th, November 20th

- On each of these dates, we are offering a FREE Lunch & Learn session in Room 112 from 12:30pm-1:30pm
- Each Lunch & Learn will focus on a different topic:
 - September-Resume writing
 - October-Applying to graduate school
 - November-Job search strategies

Harford County Public Library offers lots of free career resources on their website including job search tools, local job openings and more. They also have a school support resource hub that offers access to resources on building new skills, learning a language, test prep resources, and more.

Mental Health Support

All TU students have access to free, virtual counseling services through the Counseling Center.

Appointments can be made online or over the phone and are made for the same day that the student is seeking support.

Togetherall is a free, 24/7 communication platform for students to have conversations with their peers anonymously about topics related to mental health. Togetherall offers tools and courses to help students find creative strategies for taking care of themselves.

Welltrack Boost is a mental health self-help app that helps students take inventory of their own wellbeing. The app is free and offers courses, trackers, schedulers, quizzes, and more.

Academic & Disability Support Services

Accessibility and Disability Support Services collaborates with students, faculty, and staff to ensure equal opportunities and accessibility for students in the classroom. For students interested in getting set up with accommodations, please review the Getting Started guide. For assistance with this process, contact Allison Frey, the Director of Student Services at TUNE, at afrey@towson.edu.

Emergency Resources

For students who need support navigating a significant life challenge, reach out to Student Outreach and Support \(SOS\). SOS helps with academic issues, financial concerns, emergency health issues, mental health crises, and more. You can submit a form to SOS for yourself or for a friend.
