Step 1: The Study Abroad Experiential and Advanced Learning Approval must be started by the student for STUDY ABROAD Experiential and Advanced Learning opportunities.

Study Abroad students must submit a .doc/.docx or .pdf with the following information:

Step 2: Docusign form routed to Honors Faculty Director for review and approval/decline. Students will be automatically notified of the decision via the Docusign form in their student e-mail. This document will usually be processed within two weeks of receipt during the regular academic year.

Students are normally required to present their work in the semester immediately following the course(s). If you are graduating in the same semester that you are taking the course, you must present your Honors Experiential and Advanced Learning experience at the Celebration of Scholarship and Learning (CSL) event in your final semester. Please contact the Honors College Faculty Director, Dr. Michael Elliott (melliott@towson.edu) to discuss that situation. Please confirm the term in which you are presenting at CSL.

The course will NOT count for Honors College Experiential & Advanced Learning credit until the oral presentation and poster are satisfactorily completed at the Honors College CSL event. A block will be placed on your record and graduation clearance until this component is fulfilled.

The Honors College offers a limited number of scholarships for Honors students going abroad each term. Find out more here: towson.edu/honors/academics/experiential/abroad.html
